Empowering the people who implement your solutions

Days of Knowledge brings together the consultants and developers who build, customize, and deploy D365 Business Central and ISV solutions every day.

By sponsoring you get access to:

Hands-on technical & functional experts who influence which ISV solutions customers choose.

Partners driving cloud and AI adoption, shaping the next generation of D365 Business Central projects.

Early adopters and innovators looking for reliable, scalable, and proven add-ons. This is where technical insight meets business opportunity.

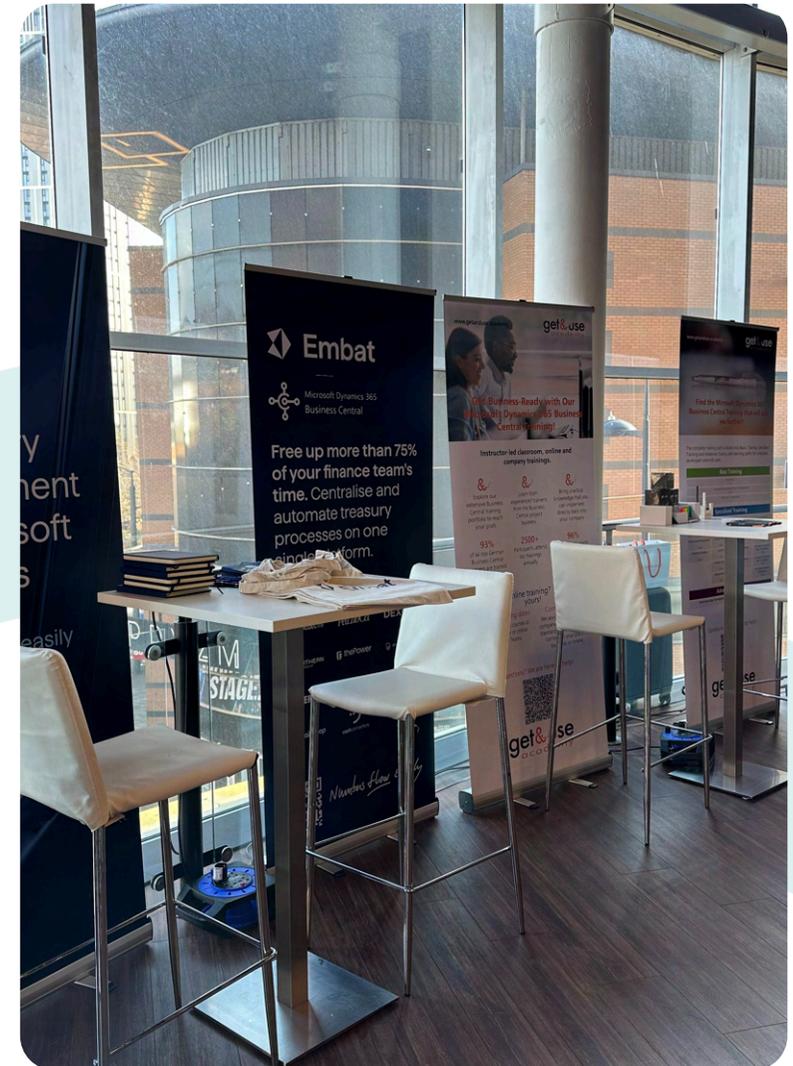

Why become a sponsor?

Because the people who implement your solution are the ones who recommend it.

- Engage directly with consultants and developers who work with customers every day.
- Build credibility and trust through technical and functional dialogue, not sales pitches.
- Strengthen your ecosystem presence and position your solution as a key part of the D365 Business Central stack.
